Everyone has strengths and everyone has a valuable contribution they can make to the team. The trick is to know what those individual strengths are and how they can be combined with the strengths of others to build a strong team that consistently delivers high performance and creates an engaging work place.

This course will:

- Explain what a strength is and what it isn't
- Show you how to identify your own strengths and those around you
- Explain the benefits for you and your organisation of using your strengths
- Demonstrate how to deal with weaknesses
- Leave you feeling energised and raring to go
